I THOROUGHLY enjoy these politicians who don't stop at getting themselves qualified to be a candidate but then follow it up with confidence and to back up that confidence by getting out and work. And I like these candidates who recognize Elba and the voters in Elba. In fact this newspaper almost demands that recognition and if it fails to come we're apt to take out after them with a sling-shot. Elba is not to be ignored by any candidate without having to be reminded about it. And we also demand for Elba that same respect and recognition AFTER they are elected.

NEW VOTERS can still pay poll taxes, say the feds. According to that information new tant Atty. General William McQueen thought the collectors should refuse to collect after the February 1 deadline. Now just what can the Tax Collectors do that will be accepted. Looks to me as if they are between the devil and the deep blue sea. The Federal Attorney General's office tells them to allow new voters to pay right on up until 45 days before the election and the State Attorney General's office reminds them of a state law prohibiting tax collectors from collecting after February 1. And so the battle continues.

WELL, the groundhogs saw their shadow Wednesday morning according to the weatherman of sorts, and we'll have six more weeks of winter, according to observers of these traditional forecasters.

I don't know much about the groundhogs but I can vouch for the weather being mighty cold during the past weekend. APPARENTLY WE will be having a few weeks before the March 1 deadline for candidates to qualify for nomination to state and county offices in the Democratic Primary May 3. There are 195 state posts to be filled this year, along with openings in the party's executive committee and vacancies in other state offices due to death or resignation. Then comes the county offices to be filled, of Tax Collector, Tax Assessor, and Sheriff, and State Representative from the District and Senator for the Senatorial District.

Most of the activity of interest in Covington and Coffee Counties, the two counties that I am most interested in, is Tax Collector, Tax Assessor and Sheriff with things really getting ready to warm up for Senator. Statewide the governor's office will create the most interest and according to the candidates who have already qualified and those who are expected to qualify it could develop that more candidates will be qualified for that office than any other. There is a great possibility that a lot of excitement will get into several other state offices between Democrats for the Primaries. There is no assurance this year that the nomination in the Primaries will mean election for the first time. The general election in the fall following the primaries has always been just a formality but the general election this November promises to be a case of dog eat dog between Democrats and Republicans. So this year it will not mean a sure thing following the May 3 and 31 primaries.

There has been a "vote vote" in some areas for sometime and this year it will mean that candidates will be forced to seek that support.

Right now the blue vote is under the wing of the loyalist Democrats. This could also have influence at the general election as to how many Democrats turn Republicans.

GOVERNOR George Wallace still has the pros wondering. Is Mrs. Wallace entering the race? All in Alabama are wondering.

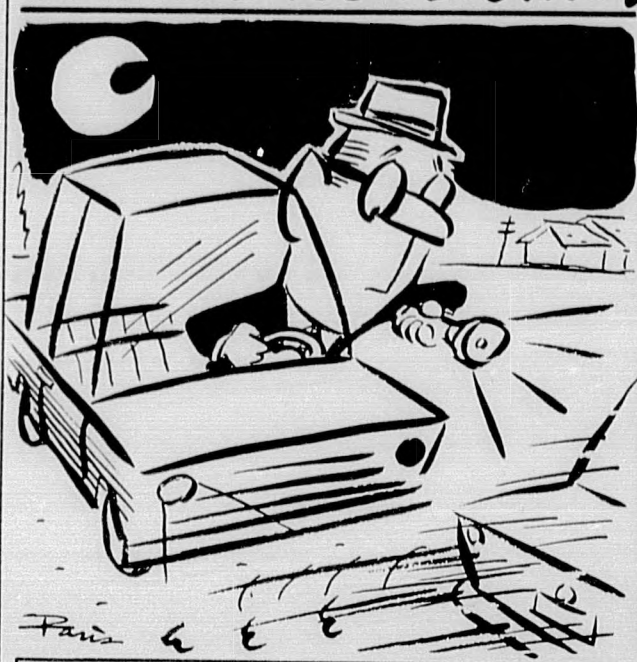

I still have to find the first person who admits they will support Mrs. Wallace for Governor and though some few seem to know that there is no question but that she will be a candidate even those few are reluctant to admit they will support her. I am wondering if it is Mrs. Wallace's health that has the Governor holding back or could it be that he has not seen the support necessary for being elected.

There could be issues develop that could get votes for Mrs. Wallace but right now the issues to take votes from one of the other candidates are missing. I have heard some rather sharp political observations who have admitted that they are finding some rather sharp criticism against Wallace if he should put his wife in the governor's race. I have heard women say that it is a shame that Governor Wallace would use his wife to further his own political ambitions. The way things look right now the women will not be voting for Mrs. Wallace if she should become a candidate.

Governor Wallace has been real popular and continues to be popular but he could lose everything by just a small mistake during this campaign. No one, in any way, or suggestion, has one single thing against Mrs. Wallace. Apparently she is very well liked but it seems that some are feeling sorry for her and are saying such things as her being more of a person to make a home for her family and not to be in politics except to be of assistance to her husband in his elective office, and that it is not fair for her husband to force her to run for governor.

Forty-six states and Puerto Rico are taking part in a state-federal hog cholera eradication program. After one year of operation, the program has reduced cholera outbreaks by 29 per cent.

YOUR HEART IS AN AUTOMATIC PUMP.
It works 78 to 80 times a minute and must never stop. It completely circulates your blood. It is only about the size of a closed fist, but it pushes from five to ten tons of blood through your blood vessels each day.

YOUR HEART IS A "MIRACLE IN ACTION."
When sickness invades your body the heart works extra hard to overcome it. Continued emotional stress makes it beat faster. Excess weight adds a burden. So do improper living habits.

FARM NEWS

CORN CONTEST
Chamber of Commerce Manager, O. I. Cunningham and I attended a Corn Contest Meeting in Ozark a few days ago to complete plans for the contest this year.

I believe that all the rules that were in effect last year were adopted for 1966. 51 adults and young farmers participated in the contest in 1965 and we hope to have more participants this year. The whole purpose of the contest is to increase corn production in this county.

SCHOLARSHIPS
Charles F. Simmons, Associate Dean of the School of Agriculture, sent a list of scholarships available to boys entering the School of Agriculture at Auburn. Most of these scholarships have a value of $300 and they are provided by the following companies: Alabama Farm Bureau Insurance Companies; Alabama Soil Fertility Society (for Agronomy majors); John W. Pace Memorial; Kroger Grocery Company; Sears-Roebuck Foundation; Mary Hall Ware (Horticulture); Garden Club of Alabama (Horticulture); and Stevens Industries.

A $1000 WTVY scholarship is also available for boys in the viewing area.

4-H PEANUT CONTEST
The Alabama Peanut Producers Association in cooperation with the Auburn University Extension Service is providing $1500 annually in prizes to counties doing the best job in peanut education work. We did not place in the money this last year but with several boys participating this year, we believe that our boys can win some of this money. Prizes for each county will be as follows: 1st, $500; 2nd $400; 3rd $300; 4th $200; and 5th $100.

MASTER FARMER
The Frank Britt Family had a wonderful night at the Master Farm Family awards in Auburn last week. Mrs. Hutchinson and I attended along with Mrs. J. Robert Wise from Kinston. The Britt's were recognized for their excellent farm activities but participation in community and church activities as well. Ten families from throughout the state were honored. We are indeed proud of the Frank Britt Family.

4-H PLANNING GROUP
We had three excellent 4-H Club Planning Meetings a few days ago involving 4-H Club Presidents and Vice-Presidents from all clubs in the county. The purpose of these meetings was to get suggestions from these officers on ways to improve the monthly meetings, an expanded awards program, meaning for project work, and better 4-H records. Some of the school officers were 100% in attendance. Leaders and parents at Auburn. Most of these scholarships have a value of $300 and they are provided by the following companies: Alabama Farm Bureau Insurance Companies; Alabama Soil Fertility Society (for Agronomy majors); John W. Pace Memorial; Kroger Grocery Company; Sears-Roebuck Foundation; Mary Hall Ware (Horticulture); Garden Club of Alabama (Horticulture); and Stevens Industries.

ELECTRIC BLENDER
HAS TIMESAVING ADVANTAGES
The versatile and time-saving advantages of the electric blender have been pointed out for home-makers by Mrs. Mary Catherine Beasley, University of Alabama assistant professor of home economics. She said with a blender the busy cook can make mayonnaise in two minutes; puddings and sauces thickened with eggs have better flavor than those thickened with cornstarch or flour.

Never clean leather upholstery with furniture polish. Clean it with a mild soap and a damp cloth.

If shirt sleeves are too long, have the cuffs taken off, the sleeves shortened and then cuffs replaced.

cake frosting in 30 seconds; potato pancake batter in one minute; real butter in one to two minutes. The blender is excellent also for making peanut butter, milk shakes, a powdered sugar substitute, and cheaper and better-tasting baby food, she said.

AN UNUSUAL BUSINESS

Next May 21, an unusual nationwide celebration will take place. It will mark the 25th anniversary of the Tree Farm Movement. This was one of the more important achievements of our time. Trees are an essential part of our economy, of our living standards, of just about everything that makes for an advanced civilization. One could hardly conceive of a nation such as ours without forest resources. Yet, not so very long ago, that danger appeared. It has since seemed that our forests were limitless. All that had to be done was to cut and move on to new stands. Then, finally, it was seen that the forests were going, and there would be a time when they would be entirely gone unless something unprecedented in this country was done.

The answer was the tree farm. Its purpose is to assure a perpetual supply of timber. That purpose has been realized. The growth of new trees, planted and nurtured and protected on the farms, now actually exceeds the cut. It is, in many ways, a unique business. The tree farmer must constantly fight the natural enemies of forests—fire, disease, and insects. He must build roads and employ labor. He must pay taxes. Yet, depending on varieties and areas, the crop may not be ready for market for a great many years—more than a century in some cases.

Fortunately, government has recognized this unique situation as a general rule. It has established tax systems for the tree farmer which encourage him to continue his work and give him a reasonable chance for a fair profit when the far-off marketing time arrives. And the nation benefits from such wise and foresighted tax policies.

What Alabama Makes Makes Alabama

Tax Collector Accepting Late Poll Tax

Coffee County Tax Collector, James Sawyer, stated in the office of this newspaper that he is still accepting poll tax from people who have registered to vote since August 10, 1965. This action is in accordance with the Voter Registration Act of 1965 which states in part that "no person who is first listed or registered on or after August 10, 1965 may be denied the right to vote in the May primary for failure to pay a poll tax if he paid $1.00 to the Tax Collector or federal examiner on or before March 18, 1966."

The above statement is in conflict with the state laws which read that the poll tax must be paid before October 1st and February 1st, but Sawyer said that if anyone offered to pay that he would accept it and issue a receipt with the amount and the date the party registered noted on it and submit this list to the probate judge at the end of this time.

The poll tax in the state of Alabama goes to schools and any extra money collected can be well spent to raise the overall education level in Alabama.

The Justice Department has stated that if the tax collector does not accept this money it could be used as an excuse to send federal examiners to Coffee County.

Trade School Honor Roll

The following students in the Business Department at Doan's MacArthur State Trade School, Opp, made the honor roll for the first grading period ending January 31, 1966 according to C.E. Politics In County At Low Simmer Politics in Coffee County are getting off to a slow start this year with the March 1st deadline for qualifying approaching rapidly.

Several offices have only one person, the incumbent, bidding for the nomination and the Coffee County seat in the State House of Representatives has no candidates, though it is expected that the incumbent, Drexal Cook, will qualify for renomination and not seek a seat in the State Senate now held by Ray Lolley, of Enterprise.

The course of study for these workshops will be the recently published "Bulk Milk Haulers Manual" developed by the Alabama Department of Public Health and the Auburn University Extension Service Division.

There was no business other than discussion of minor administrative matters at the City Council meeting Monday night.

Spurlin To Open Feed Mill

W. S. Spurlin, of Opp, announced this week that he will open the feed mill in Elba in the near future. He has hired a man to manage this mill and as soon as details can be worked out he will begin operations. Spurlin now operates a mill in Opp with his son, Will, counting to operate the Opp mill.

The Elba feed mill has been closed down for several months and it is a weekly affair for one or more interested persons to come in the Elba Office asking "when will the mill re-open?" It is because of the inconvenience they are experiencing by taking their feed to town for grinding and mixing and during the fall, when farmers were gathering corn, they asked "where can we sell our corn in Elba?" - there was no place to send them.

Registrars To Meet In Elba

The Coffee County Board of Registrars will meet in Elba next week for six days in a row, according to Mrs. Quinnie Whitman, board member. The board will meet in the courthouse Monday through Saturday and will continue to register persons qualified to vote.

The tax collector, James Sawyer, told this newspaper that he is accepting poll tax from late registrars according to federal law.

Elba Native In Race For Governor

FORMER GOVERNOR James E. (Big Jim) Folsom, a native of Elba, has qualified for nomination to serve a third term in the state's highest office.

Folsom, along with most of the other candidates, has not gotten his campaign into full swing as of yet but can be expected to give anyone colorful and active competition whatever the campaign issues. Probably his best known slogan in the past was "YALP COME" and it can be expected that this slogan will bring in the near future unless Big Jim comes up with another one that he thinks will stay on the lips of the voters longer.

Other qualifying candidates for governor include Ryan de Graderfield, Carl Elliott, Mrs. Delores Price, Sherman Powell, former John Patterson, Charles Woods, A.W. Todd and C. Rex Scott.
